

Ms Lydelle Joubert

Lydelle Joubert is a researcher at Stable Seas on global piracy and counter-piracy efforts and contributes research on transnational organized crime and terrorism. She has been the author of the annual State of Maritime Piracy report since 2019. She is also an expert for the UNODC's Global Maritime Crime Programme. She joined One Earth Future's Stable Seas program in November 2018 and became part of Stable Seas when it evolved into an independent entity in May 2021. Lydelle brings first-hand experience in the private security sector and the South African military, as well as seagoing experience as a volunteer in search and rescue at the National Sea Rescue Institute in South Africa. She provided maritime security subject matter expertise for the U.S. Naval War College and has been invited to talks and presentations for the South African Navy, UNODC, USNWC, the Contact Group on Piracy off the Coast of Somalia, and others. She holds an MA in International Relations from the University of Pretoria, South Africa.